

PLAYER-PLAYWRIGHTS AND HOW TO JOIN

Player-Playwrights is a society of actors and writers. Its stated aims are “to encourage the writing of plays by its Members, by providing an opportunity for such plays to be presented and criticized by the Society; to widen the knowledge of all aspects of Playwriting, by inviting to its meetings Speakers and Lecturers on Dramatic Theory and ... to explore all avenues whereby members’ work may be presented to the Public” (Constitution 10/08/1948).

We meet from about 7.15pm every Monday (except holidays) to hear/see/read/perform/discuss scripts submitted by members. The readings start at 7.45pm. Our venue is the room downstairs in the Porter's Bar, 383 Euston Road NW1 3AU, sixty yards from Great Portland Street tube station. The room has a bar (and bar staff!) and chairs, and stools. There is a performing area (with appropriate lighting) at one end. Visitors are always welcome: just drop in and see what you think.

It costs £12 to join and £8 a year after that, the first £8 being due on the New Year's Day after joining. There is also an attendance fee of £2.50 for every Monday meeting attended; this charge is collected on the night from members and visitors alike. For more information telephone Peter Thompson on 020 8883 0371 or send an email to publicity@playerplaywrights.co.uk

If you wish to join please post the completed form below and a cheque (payable to PLAYER-PLAYWRIGHTS) to Tony Diggle, 7 Cain Court, Castlebar Mews London W5 1RY or just come to the Green Man on Monday night.

I approve of the aims of PLAYER-PLAYWRIGHTS (as above) and I apply to join. I enclose a cheque for £12. I understand that membership will lapse if the fees due on 1 January are not paid I would/would not be interested in reading parts*.

Name..... Tel No.....
Mobile NoEmail

.....
Address on earth:

*ACTORS: If you wish to be cast in PP readings, please send a CV and JPEG of a headshot (to be posted in the Actors' Gallery on the website) to the Casting Secretary, Anthea Courtenay:
anthea@antheacourtenay.plus.com